Flags, Speeches, Marchers Mark Veterans' Day Celebration In Carmel

By Joanne Louise Nix

More than 200 people gathered at Carmel's World War I monument on Ocean Ave. Tuesday to honor the nation's doldiers and pay tribute to those who died in the service of their country.

Veteran's day observances, sponsored by Carmel Post 512 of the American Legion, began with the ringing of the World War monument bell. Church bells in Carmel began to chime and spectators viewed the parade led by Carmel's Boy Scout Troop 86. The troop marched from the Carmel Fire Station bearing the Colors.

The Peninsula's patriotic associations assembled at the World War I monument on Ocean Ave. at 11 a.m. There, Carmel's Mayor Barney Laiolo laid a wreath and expressed his pride in being an American. He stated that he was pleased with the day's turn out and asked that the people support America's leaders who, he said, "...are doing their very best for us....."

Wreaths were also laid by Mrs. An Setzer, chaplain of the Monterey Peninsula World War I Auxiliary and Fremont Ballou, chaplain of World War I Barracks 634. Chaplain Ballou delivered an invocation and expressed hopes that leaders of the world might grow in wisdom and strength.

The parade continued to Devendorf Plaza for the raising of the flag and an invocation by the pastor of Carmel Mission, The Rev. George Mc Menamin. Spectators in the park then heard speeches by Legion Commander E. A. O'Malley and former national vice chairman of the American Legion, Dudley Swim.

O'Malley pointed out that those who are most vocal for peace do not censor Russia for supplying arms and military aid to North Vietnam. He said that the man who most loves peace is "....the one who has seen the hoor of war....." He added that men who fought did so to preserve freedom for those they loved. O'Malley asked for support of the government and expressed hopes for peace.

Swim, who is a member of the board of California State Colleges, expressed his concern over Communist elements on America's campuses who are attempting to capture and destroy the minds of America's youth.

He observed that colleges are used as launching pads for corruption and he urged citizens to join the war to instill cleanliness, courage, and integrity to education. Swim attacked the "no-win" policy in Korea and claimed that it led to the war in Vietnam. He pointed out that our refusal not to smash, but rather just to contain Communist aggression in Korea was a direct invitation to more aggression by the Reds.

The march continued on to the Vietnam Monument at Ocean and Lincoln. There, William T. Branson, president of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and and a Silver Star recipient, said that people can not turn off the vocal minority. He chided those who would destroy our way of life without even trying it. He cited America's achievements in Space, medicine and education and stated that America will never fall prey to foreign enemies or domestic agitators. "....It is a healthy nation, a strong nation," he added.

Father McMenamin delivered a blessing, and the playing of taps by Sp. 4 Vincent Kelley concluded the ceremonies of Veteran's day, 1969.

Council Hears Wide Agenda

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Nearly the full range of usual municipal problems was touched at some point during last week's long Carmel City Council meeting, and then when the public portion of the agenda ended, the Council closed city hall doors to go into executive session to consider pending city litigation.

For many years, the display of merchandise outside stores has been a recurring matter of concern to city governing bodies, and an ordinance intended to identify, limit, and control such displays came before the Council at last week's meeting.

After prolonged discussion the ordinance was referred back to the city planning commission for its further consideration.

The general feeling of Council members appeared to be that regulations should be more specific

More than 200 people gathered at Devendorf Plaza Tuesday in observance of Veterans' Day. Tami is assisted by her mother, Mrs. Clyde Kalumann Jr.

Patriotism -- Curse Or Blessing?

(Editor's Note: Colonel C. Austin DeCamp (USA Ret) is one of the most outspoken individuals on the Monterey Peninsula on the subjects of the Constitution of the United States, the accomplishments of American Democracy and the necessity for faith and love of country.

The following is a portion of a speech he delivered in tribute to Veterans Day at the American Unity rally at the Customs House Plaza on Nov. 9.

Col. DeCamp is a veteran of both World War I and II.)

It is indeed a great honour and one that I appreciate deeply, to address so responsive an audience waving the American Flag so enthusiastically.

Particularly for one who comes to you as a Veteran of World War I and II in this his 86th year.

As such, I like to think that I have aquired a perspective that takes in a wide view of the struggle for freedom in this world, with America's contribution thereto in depth . . .

. . . . To begin with, I find many great parallels in history, first of which perhaps is the sameness of mankind down the ages. In many respects he seems to have changed but little if at all. Perhaps if he changed a great deal, he would in the course of generations, breed himself into the perfect man. What then would keep him out of heaven, and struggling along with the uncertaintees of this earth, I do not know.

One thing however seems clear to me: Thousands of generations ago, a manly man was such if he had: (1) Integrity, (2) Courage, (3) Self Reliance.

Then to cover the great galaxy of history in one fell swoop as it were, we come to the era that, transcending all former record, gave the world the calendar by which we live today. The Christian calendar that recognizes the advent of Jesus Christ as the starting point. And well it may, since it was Jesus the Christ who averred that the Kingdom of God was within you. You the individual. That you, not the King were sovereign. That you were a free being with your destiny in your hands.

It has been said, there is nothing so formidable as an idea whose time has come. The Christ idea of the sovereignty of man, simmered down the years with Wycliffe, the English scholar and Divine, giving it, in the fourteenth Century, a great impetus which for our purposes today, was to come to a boil, and to meet its time in our America in the year 1776. Then, in the words of Abraham Lincoln: "Our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty . . . " Liberty for the first time became a tangible, living and realizable factor in the life of Man. A nation for the first time in history came into being having a stated philosophical reason for being . . . . .

. . . The people of that time were imbued with the magnitude of the new world of freedom until it was born and bred into their beings, revered and loved passionately, so that whenever the tyrant (in many guises) rose to jeopardise the way of freedom, these American people have arisen manfully, valorously and triumphantly to thwart his advance at the expence of some seven costly wars, Revolution, Civil, Spanish, World I World II, Korean, and Vietnam.

Seven times have our armed forces met the confrontation of tyranny, paying the price of wounds, death, sorrow, sweat and tears, that liberty should be for all, slackers as well as courageous. It has been a noble endeavor . . . .

. . . . That our current age is not without eloquence, I would like to bring to your attention in a letter from a Las Vegas father to the Peace Demonstrators, which in turn echoes the inborn American reverence and love of liberty.

Malcolm Thompson writes: "When the peace demonstrators read my son's name, let them know how he felt about the Vietnam war, and how the parents who shaped him feel about it. It is we the parents, who said good-bye to him when he went away to fight — not the peace agitators. It is we the parents who wrote long anxious letters to him during his three mongths almost constant combat — not the agitators. It is the ones who saw his body returned in a flag draped coffin who first should be heard — not the protestors. These transparent propogandists were not there to see my son buried, nor do they accompany me on my trips to lay flowers on his grave.

My son was killed while fighting for his country.

America cannot be permitted to perpetually persuade its citizens to instill in their sons a sens of patriotism, loyalty and determination to defend the oppressed, and then after the sons have died, suddenly change her mind and yeild to those who killed them.

Most of the peace demonstrations and name reading ceremonies across the nation are an obvious propoganda device designed to influence the President of the United States into surrendering South Vietnam to an enremy which admittedly and openly seeks to conquer it by any and all means.

When they read my son's name to advocate peace at any price — the price being defeat — let them remember that he whose name they read did not surrender.

When these pretentious mourners read my son's name, let them realize that their grief would be better served if applied to the Viet Cong whose flag they wave even as they burn the one which graced my son's casket.

When they read the name of Gregory Malcolm Thompson, let them realize that they are proving before the world the truth of the oft-repeated Communist claim that many Americans have become soft decadent and yeilding to any determined force which opposes them.

And when these weak, gullible ones read his name in their avowed pursuit of peace, let them remember that a peace purchased at the price of surrender is but the brief Munich type peace lasting only until the agressor's appetite demands more victims.

Finally, when these hypocrites read the list of the dead who defended South Vietnam, let them know that they have reached the ultimate low in the world-record of human infamy, in that they willfully and cunningly utter a dead man's name to achieve the defeat of the cause for which he died.

Malcolm Thompson

I think that you will find the eloquence of this patriot father compares well with the patriots of former times. The lesson is: Where manly men value freedom, and are concerned for its future, there eloquence emerges as a natural expression.

Council

than shown in the ordinance if there were to be new regulations at all.

Reference to a long-standing agenda item concerning the local TV cable-company operation, brought to comment from Councilman Frank Falge that "people who were promised certain TV channels just aren't getting them."

The TV cable company had said it would complete technical work for an expanded local TV cable service in a period of 15 months. That period ended last March, but word of completion is still awaited by the City.

Meanwhile, the TV cable item will continue to appear on City Council agendas.

A substantial part of the meeting time was taken by a consideration of sewage treatment and off-shore pollution.

Sal Russo administrative assistant to State Assemblyman Robert Wood (Rep.-Greenfield), pointed out that both the federal and state governments are much concerned about water pollution and stand ready to help lessen such pollution and to deal with costs connected with such efforts.

Following the discussion, Councilmen decided to ask the Sanitary District board to give the City its timetable for acceptance of Pebble Beach sewage and for completion of it planned sewage-treatment plant improvements.

Not only did the Council hear about sewage service, but it also received a request from the John Roscelli Corporation, which handles Carmel garbage pick-ups, for authority to increase weekly collection rates from the present $1.75 to $2.25. The last rate increase was approved in 1965 when the weekly residential charge rose from $1.25 to $1.75. The Roscelli request was referred to the Council's committee on public welfare for its study.

A petition sent to the City Council, asked that a drive-up mail box be located across 5th street from the post office, Fifth Street is now a one-way street eastbound. The Council agreed with petitioners, and decided to ask the post office department to authorize such a drop-box.

Studio Opens Bill Of Unique Stage Fare

Some people like gimmicks, some people don't like gimmicks.

I happen to have a true "thing" going for gimmicks, particularly theatrical gimmicks.

"Black Comedy," which opened at the Studio Theater-Restaurant Friday not only uses a gimmick, the play in its entirety is a gimmick — a surprising, hilarious, fast-moving, frantically funny gimmick — a howling, successful gimmick that produces guffaws, giggles and gigantic belly laughs from beginning to end.

I don't think I'll be slaying any sacred cows if I outline the ridiculous premise of the play. A fuse blows in a London flat, and throughout the play, the action moves with the stage lights on, but with the characters groping in the dark. A lighter is lit, or a candle, or a flashlight goes on, and the stage lights dim. The play starts in total darkness until a fuse blows.

Using on this unique idea, Peter Fhaffer, one of England's brightest playwrights, builds the comedy around two young lovers, a martinet father of the girl, a lovely model and assorted other characters who add to the hilarity.

The play is full of tricks and surprises, but for my money, the outstanding characteristic of "Black Comedy" is the absolutely wonderful way the players handle the difficult task of groping about with the stage lights full on, and making their eyes "blonk out" just like little Orphan Annie in the comics.

The cast is superb.

Newcomer to the Peninsula stage Richard Klein is a smooth, polished performer whose every action, gesture, line exudes confidence and know-how. He is stationed at Ft. Ord, and we can all hope he stays around for a long time.

Rod Allison is a familiar figure in local little theater who always turns in a slick, professional performance on any role he undertakes.

Both Klein and Allison have major parts in both productions, since the evening at the Studio starts with a short play called "White Lies."

In "Black Comedy," Shirley Swanger is truly funny as the prim old maid who finds alcoholic beverages to her liking, and LaVonne Rae Andrews is luscious as a model who is a troublemaker for the young lovers. George Smith as Colonel Melkett, and Edie Donahoe as his daughter both turn in outstanding performances.

Paul Boczkowiski as the art lover come to fix the fuse and John Sullivan as one of the world's richest men are great in their parts.

In the curtain raiser, "White Lies," a fortune teller encounters two customers, each with a radically different story about the other, and she must decide which is lying.

Kay Carlson as the fake baroness fortune teller is truly brilliant in the role, and your sympathies are with her all the way, fake that she is.

Would recommend reservations before going. Call 624-1661 or 2321.

Bicentennial Medallions Again In Good Supply

The official Old Monterey Bicentennial Commemorative Medallions are once again available throughout Monterey County in good supply.

The handsome medals are now available in banks, savings & loan offices, many hotels, motels restaurant and other places of business. Many of these outlets sold out their initial supplies of medallions, as well as their reorders, due to the heavy demand.

These collectors' coins are cast in bronze and in silver, in 1½" and 2½" sizes, with prices ranging from $2.50 to $50. The profit from the sales of the medals will be used to finance the activities of the 200th Birthday Celebration during the 1970 Bicentennial year.

The beautifully designed medals commemorate the founding of the colony of Monterey by Spain, in 1770. Though the Spanish explorer, Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo described Monterey Bay as early as 1542, it was not until 1770 that a combined land and sea expedition met on the shores of Monterey's blue bay to establish a permanent settlement. The leaders were Father Junipero Serra and Captain Gaspar de Portola. Their heads are shown on the medallions together with those of an early California Indian, a Spanish senorita and an early Yankee settler.

The reverse side shows Father Serra's home mission, San Carlos de Borromeo, in nearby Carmel.

Many medals have been purchased for gifts.

Mrs. Owings To Be Honored By Commission

Gifts through the Save-the-Redwoods League of eight memorial redwood groves valued at more than $400,000 will highlight the Nov. 14 meeting of the California State Park and Recreation Commission in San Francisco.

The Commission will meet at 9 a.m. in Room 1194 of the State Office Building Annex, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Mrs. Margaret Owings of Big Sur, who recently resigned from the Commission, will be honored with a resolution and a plaque.

The eight memorial groves to be given the State through the Save-the-Redwoods League comprise 130 acres in three State redwood parks and are on a matching-fund basis.

In Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park, Del Norte County, the 20-acre G.P.W. Jensen Family Grove valued at $200,000 is a gift of Alfred E. Jensen.

In Del Norte Coast Redwoods State Park, the 20-acre Charles W. and Mamie A. Knights Memorial Grove valued at $20,000 is a gift of Charles W. Knights. In the same park, the 10-acre Mac and Gertrude McKee Grove valued at $20,000 is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McKee.

The six memorial groves in Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park, Humboldt County, are valued at over $176,000 and total 80 acres. The groves are:

Hitchman Memorial Grove, 10 acres, valued at $10,000, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Hitchman.

Frank and Ida Pauson Grove and Gertrude Pauson Grove, two 10-acre gifts valued at about $20,000 each, donor Miss Rose Pauson.

Gergrude Strong Achilles Memorial Redwood Grove, 10 acres valued at $10,000, donors Paul S., H. Laurence, and Theodore C. Achilles and Mrs. H. A. de S. Canavarro.

Workshop In Hypnosis At MPC Nov. 18

Russel Kirk – critic, editor, novelist, essayist, syndicated columnist, lecturer, will speak at Monterey Peninsula College on "Social Boredom and Its Cures" Thursday, Nov. 20, at 8 p.m. in the National Guard Armory on campus.

Admission to the lecture is by free tickets, which may be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope to the MPC community services office or picking them up in the administration building afternoons.

Kirk writes and speaks on conservative thought, educational theory, literary criticism, foreign affairs and other themes. His daily column, "To the Point," appears in more than 100 newspapers.

His best-known book, "The Conservative Mind," is considered the most widely read and reviewed work of political theory to be published this century.

Musical Comments

by Rachel Morton

Music Critic

To an overflow audience, for which extra chairs had to be brought in, the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society presented the Parrenin Quartet from Paris Friday evening.

The concert was given on the stage of the Sunset Auditorium, with a "theatre-in-the-round" arrangement, the artists being in the center. Although an "intime" atmosphere was meant to pervade, for this reviewer the experiment was rather disappointing, acoustically and visually.

Since the response to the Society's increasing membership has been so gratifying, it is hoped a larger and more suitable place for chamber music might be found for future programs.

The Parrenin Quartet, made up of Jacquest Parrenin, first violin; Marcel Charpentier, second violin; Denes Marton, viola; and Pierre Penassou, cello – a group of seasoned virtuoso players – was formed in Paris in 1944.

It was ensemble playing at its best. The tone was mellow and there were niceties of effects. The superb artistry of the cellist, plus his luscious tone, contributed greatly to the ensemble.

Beethoven's quartet in D Major opened the program. The music of Beethoven is heavy fare for a string quartet, but the Parrenin group gave a highly commendable performance.

"Ten Sketches" by Skalkottas proved interesting and unusual. Although the atonal influence of Schoenberg, who was the teacher of the Greek composer, Skalkottas, the music of the Ten Sketches was not too "far out" in dissonance compared with much of today's modern music.

The ten short tid-bits impressed me as follows: Sinfonia – music with gusto and fury; Concerto – a bit of the same, modified; Passacaglia – a nostalgic mood with a wailing cello obligato. Suita – "in-and-out" music of a turbulent nature. Concertino – short and snappy; Serenata – sadness of mood; a violin solo nicely played, followed by luscious muted effects in the other instruments. Ragtime – embellished music, more Greek than jazz. Notturno – very sombre, very eerie and very effective. Capriccio – a caprice indeed, with deft fingering and fast tempo. Rondo – a veritable circle of virtuoso playing.

Schumann's Quartet in A Minor was the finest achievement of the evening.

There was finesse, elan and supreme artistry in the First Movement. The Adagio showed the romantic and Schumann at his melancholy best. The plucked strings of the violin were like tears against the sadness of the music of the other players.

With clean attack the Presto ran and disported itself in playful, good humor. A subdued and quiet interlude contrasted strongly to the flourishing finish. With what masterly precision did each instrumentalist contribute to the perfection of the whole.

Two encores were given in response to enthusiastic recalls: The Second Movement of the Debussy Quartet and the Canzonetta from the First Quartet by Mendelssohn.

Russell Baker Is Next For Town House Series Nov. 19

Witty and perceptive newspaper columnist Russell Baker will be the second speaker in the Town Hall Lecture Series, sponsored by the auxiliary of the Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing.

The author of the widely read, "The Observer," Baker will appear Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 10 a.m. at the Cinema 70 Theater in the Del Monte Center.

Baker's popular column has appeared on the editorial page of the New York Times since 1962 and is syndicated three times weekly throughout the country. It has attracted millions of faithful readers with its gentle but biting humar which punctuates the writer's basically serious preoccupation with world problems.

Forty-four years old, Baker joined the New York Times Washington bureau at 30 in 1955, after an eight year stint on the Baltimore Sun. He had gone to the Sun following time in the Naval Reserve during the war and four years at John Hopkins University, where he received a degree in English literature.

Baker's first assignments at the Times Washington bureau were at the White House, and later at Congress, the State Department, national politics, and presidential campaigns, as well as trips abroad with President Eisenhower and President Kennedy.

The newspaperman also has several books to his credit, including "All Things Considered", written in 1965, "No Cause for Panic," nad "An American in Washington." He is currently planning a new American history for children.

Baker's articles have also appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest and Ladies Home Journal.

Following the Town Hall Lecture, Baker will attend a luncheon and question-and-answer session at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. For reservation and information, call 624-9142 or 659-4428.

Tickets for individual lectures in the Town Hall series, including the appearance of actor and art collector Vincent Price, are now available.

The Auxiliary of the Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing has decided to offer separate tickets to the remaining four lectures.

Price, a stage, screen and television as well as widely respected art connoisseur, critic and collector, will come to Monterey on Feb. 27.

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING A BUSINESS LICENSE REVIEW BOARD

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN as follows:

Section 1. That Part III, Division 2, of the Municipal Code is amended by the addition of Division 2a, Sections 320. through 323.2 as shown in Exhibit "A" attached hereto.

Section 2. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, HUGH BAYLESS, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 200 C.S., which was given its First Reading at a Regular Meeting of said City Council on the 8th day of October, 1969, and finally adopted at a Regular Meeting of the said Council on the 5th day of November, 1969. I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 7th day of November, 1969.

HUGH BAYLESS, City Clerk

Exhibit "A"

MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA
PART 3 — TAXES AND LICENSES
DIVISION 2a — BUSINESS LICENSE REVIEW BOARD

320. ESTABLISHMENT OF BOARD. The City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea finds and determines that the potentially deleterious effects of certain businesses or the manner of conducting otherwise innocuous businesses can do serious harm to the city's economic health and will violate the intent, if not the letter, of Carmel's General Plan and Carmel's Planning and Zoning Code. Based on this finding, the City Council determines the need for and hereby establishes the Carmel Business License Review Board.

320.1 PURPOSE OF BOARD AND STANDARDS. The purposes of the Carmel Business License Review Board shall be to determine the effects of businesses in the categories hereafter listed in terms of their compatibility with adopted plans and laws; their potential for police, fire, health or nuisance-generating problems; their proposed appearance and upkeep; their proposed methods of operation, management, and type or types of customers; and their general value or potential harm to the city and its objectives.

320.2 DETERMINATION BY BOARD. Based upon the determination made, and subject to the standards set forth herein, the Board may approve, approve with conditions, or deny any application covered by this Division. In the event any application is denied, the Board shall present the applicant with written findings which state the manner in which the proposed business will harm the city's economic health or violate the intent or letter of Carmel's General Plan or Carmel's Planning and Zoning Code.

320.3 COMPOSITION OF BOARD. The Carmel Business License Review Board shall be composed of the following members or their authorized agents. Four members shall constitute a quorum.

The City Adminstrator (Chrm)
The Police Chief
The Fire Chief (or Fire Insp.)
The Chief BuildingInspector
The Planning Director

320.4 EX-OFFICIO MEMBERS. The following ex-officio members shall be advised of all meetings of the Board and may, attend all such meetings. They shall be heard on any matters before the Board in which they desire to participate, but they shall not have a vote:

The City Attorney
A Representative of the Carmel Business Assn.

321. PROCEDURE. The procedures in applying for a business license shall remain as established in this Part of the Code, except that approval by the Board shall be required before a license is issued to any business covered by this Division. Any applicant for a business licensecovered by this Division shall furnish in writing a general statement and description of the type of business proposed and the type or types of merchandise and/or services to be provided.

Wedding Bells

Roberta Toporco and Ronald Hatchel

Roberta Toporco Is Now Mrs. Hatchel

Roberta Toporco became the bride of Sgt. Ronald Gene Hatchel on Oct. 11 at St. Angela's church in Pacific Grove with Rev. Lawrence Farrell officiating at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nick Williams of Pacific Grove and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Betty Hatchel of Flint, Mich. who was given in marriage by her father, Robert T. Taporco of Salinas.

The bride is a graduate of Salinas High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College and Hartnell College.

Sgt. Hatchel attended the Defense Language School and is now serving with the U.S. Marine Corps. He has two sisters, Pauletta and Deborah Hatchel of Flint.

The bride's floor length gown of white textured Italian silk was designed with a princess bodice, a circlet neckline and long fitted sleeves accented with baroque pearl embroidery. The chapel length train was also of silk and her illusion veil was held by a Camelot headpiece. She carried a cascade of orchids and stephanotis.

Evelyn Cho of Salinas was maid of honor and the bride's cousins, Karen and Vanessa Plaza of South San Francisco and Brenda Sumaylo of Stockton were bridesmaids. Another cousin, Donna Jean Anderson of Buena Park was flower girl.

The bride's attendants wore floor length gowns of textured silk and carried corsages of garnet roses.

Best man was Staff Sgt. Richard Reasin of Indiana. Sp. 4 Samuel Spangenberg of North Carolina, Seaman James Cable of the Presidio of Monterey and Sp. 4 Terry Settlemire of Wyoming seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a street length carnation pink wool gown.

A reception at the San Carlos Hotel followed the ceremony with music provided by the Martin Slavin trio.

The couple's future home will be Edzell, Scotland, where Sgt. Hatchel will be stationed with the Marine Corps.

Honey Spence

Wedding By The Sea

A double ring ceremony beside the sea at Asilomar united Merrilee Jane (Honey) Spence and Ronald Lee Barnes in marriage. The Rev. W. Elmer Roy of the First Presbyterian Church of Monterey officiated.

The bride's attendants at the afternoon rites were Lory Swan of Carmel Valley and Milton Hiatt of Fresno.

Honey attended schools in San Jose and is a graduate of Sarah Dix Hamlin School for Girls in San Francisco. She made her bow at the San Francisco Debutante Ball in 1967. She is also the daughter of Oly Leo Spence and has a brother, Kerry Michael. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. I. Norman Downer of Carmel.

Ron attended schools in Merced and is employed by the Del Monte Hyatt House in Monterey. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Eugene Barnes of Winton, California and has one sister, Mrs. Donald J. Heppner of Mt. Shasta.

Following their return from an extended honeymoon trip, the couple will be at home in Pacific Grove after December 1.

Women's Club Fun On Friday

The second program of the Fun on Friday series will be held Nov. 14 at the Carmel Woman's Club.

Sam and Edie Karas will read a scene from the play "Plaza Suite" by Neil Simon.

Mr. and Mrs. Karas are well known for their excellent work in various plays on the Peninsula and are presently playing in the comedy "Don't Drink the Water." Sam Karas will explain the work and plans of the Community Theater.

Assisting Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard and Mrs. William Ladd in greeting members and guests and serving tea will be Mrs. Anthony Rosales, Mrs. George Crusselle, Mrs Joseph Daly and Miss Eva Dunbar.

St. Mary's Plan Bazaar

The approach of the Christmas season at St. Mary's-by-the-Sea is marked by the annual bazaar of the guild to be held in the parish house, 12th St. and Central Ave. in Pacific Grove on Nov. 19.

Luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. under the direction of St. Drocas Guild of the Church with Mrs. Harold Ramer as chairman.

Displays at the bazaar will include a holiday booth with unusual Christmas decorations, gifts and table arrangements, boutiques, a gourmet booth and displays of toys, aprons and household articles.

Officers of St. Mary's Guild who have acted as general chairmen of the bazaar are Mrs. Margaret Russell, president; Mrs. Mary Louise Benham, vice president; Mrs. Roy Stephens, recording secretary, and Mrs Ralph Sisson, treasurer.

Party For Mrs. Morse

Mrs. S.F.B. Morse, just home from a sojourn on the Continent, was the guest of honor at a cocktail party hosted by Aime Michaud at his home Friday, Oct. 31.

Among those welcoming her home were: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gawthrop (newly-elected chairman of the board of Del Monte Properties), Mrs. Harry Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Magowan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dirickson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Butts and Selby McCreery.

Preceeding the party, Michaud and Mrs. Morse checked the progress of McComas House. This new addition to Del Monte Lodge will be open in mid-November.

The units were decorated under the direction of Mrs. Morse. All rooms face the ocean and Point Lobos,

New Officers For MPVS

Richard Pearsall at Perry House

Perry House Will Feature Pearsall Work Thru Nov.

The Perry House Gallery of Fine Art in Monterey is featuring, during the month of November, outstanding paintings by Richard Pearsall, artists in residence at the Robert Louis Stevenson School Pebble Beach.

Oils in pastel shades of Venice, Cannes, France & Spain attest to his extensive studios on the continent.

In London he studied at the Byam Shaw School, the L.C.C. School of Arts and Crafts, the Slade School. In Paris at the Academie Araujo and the Academie Julien. He has also exhibited in the British Isles at the Royal Academy, New English Art Club, the Royal Scottish Academy, at the Walker Art Gallery, Liverpool and various other provincial galleries as well as U.S. Galleries.

This is an important showing for the Peninsula and should be put on the "must" list for November.

Music Society Board Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Carmel Music Society met on Nov. 5 at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Carl Welchner in Rancho Rio Vista for a general business meeting and also to discuss plans for their forthcoming concert on Nov. 13 to feature the leading French baritone, Gerard Souzay.

There are still a few tickets available and anyone wishing to purchase them may do so at the box office at the Friar Tuck Book Store in Carmel.

The Western Opera Theater group, which is scheduled for Jan. 23, has sent word that it has chosen its programs for the season and John Farr, president of the Music Society, announced that two one-act operas will be presented – "Gianni Schicchi" by Puccini and "L'Heure Espagnole" by Ravel.

The Board also accepted, with regret, the resignations of Dr. and Mrs. Mast Wolfson who have been members of the Board practically since its inception.

Those attending the meeting were Mr. Robert Arenz, Mrs. Nancy Bowman, Mrs. Rhea Diveley, Mr. Kenneth Ehrman, Mr. John Farr, Mrs. Alvin Gluck, Mrs. June Haas, Mrs. Monte Harrington, Mrs. Leonard Klene, Mrs. Harry Lusignan, Miss Angie Machado, Dr. Arnold Manor, Dr. Harvey Marshall, Mr. Edward Neroda, Father H. M. M. Nicholas, Mr. Frederick Schaad, Mrs. Bernard Szold and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann.

The next meeting of the Music Society will be held Dec. 9 at the home of Mrs. June Haas in Carmel Highlands.

'Feathers' To MPC

"Four Feathers," an Alexander Korda color classic, will be screened Friday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

Tickets are available at the MPC community services office afternoons or may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance.

Starring Ralph Richardson, C. Aubrey Smith and June Duprez, the film is set in Egypt when Kitchener and the English Colonial armies were at the height of their power and glory. In the British army tradition, the white feather is a sign of cowardice, and the film tells the story of one man who is given three white feathers by his closest friends. The fourth feather he takes from his girl, who also suspects him of cowardice.

The dreaded dervishes, savage warfare, a thousand stampeding camels, Kipling's Fuzzy Wuzzies, heroism, love and the redemption of a man are all a part of the Korda tableau.

Housing Set For Knight Collection

The long planned Allen Knight Maritime Museum is about to get off to a good start under the sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula History and Art Association. The site will be the ground floor of the county building on Pacific Street, Monterey, the two top floors of which will house the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

The City of Monterey has purchased this building from the county expressly for these purposes.

The Knight Collection, which is being given in memory of the late Allen Knight, is housed at present in Carmel at the Knight home in it's own special building which is no longer adequate to hold it.

The historic variety of artifacts; parts of various wrecked ships that ended their days on the west coast, ship models, compasses, ships' wheels, name boards, etc.

The greatest value of the collection, however, lies in the reference material it contains. There are thousands of photographs of ships and data regarding their histories, fine reference books, log books of specific journeys, files on ship wrecks and many more areas of interest to the artist, writer, California Historian, student and researcher of facts of a nautical nature.

The intent of the museum is to make these records accessable to those who are interested in availing themselves of the opportunities offered.

Monterey's early and more recent history is tied in very closely with ships and the sea. The coastal steam schooners, purse seiners of the fishing fleet, whalers and other types of ships played an important part in the yesterdays of the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Knight is certain that many people living here have memorabilia which can add to the treasures this museum will hold. She hopes that contributions of authentic artifacts and materials will be offered to enlarge the scope of the original Allen Knight Collection and thus contribute to the preservation of Monterey's great historical heritage.

Guide Dog Is Kiwanis Guest

Carmel cuncilman Eben Whittlesey and his guide dog Bonny were luncheon guests Thursday of the Carmel Kiwanis club.

Whittlesey showed a film on the training of "Guide Dogs for the Blind" in San Rafael.

The film documented the training of guide dogs who are raised by members of the 4H club from puppy hood to one year of age. The dogs then receive three to five months training at the center in San Rafael after which they are trained for four weeks with their blind masters.

The center furnishes dogs for the western part of the U.S. and also provides dogs for blind veterans.

The dogs, whose value in expense of breeding and training is about $2,700 each, are furnished free of charge to the sightless.

VENGANCE SEEKERS– Bob Lotz, right, as Fenn, a father seeking vengance for the death of his son, plots with Martin, played by James Sweeney, adopted son of the man responsible. The play, "Someone Waiting," may be seen on weekends at the Circle Theater. Curtain at 8:30 on Friday and Saturday, one hour earlier on Sunday. Call 624-2669 for reservations.

THREATENING RAGE – Richard Johnson in the part of "Creon" in the film "Oedipus the King," threatens with his whip during a tense moment in the Greek Tragedy. "Oedipus" is playing for the last time tonight at Carmel's Village Theater in a special presentation. Christopher Plummer heads the cast which includes Orson Welles and Lilli Palmer. "Oedipus" was filmed in Greece around the amphitheater of Dondoni, which was built in the 3rd century B.C., and is based on the greatest of Sophicles tragedies, "Oedipus Rex." Tickets for this special performance are on sale at the box office.

Switzerland Is Next Travel Destination At Sunset

"Wide, Wide Switzerland," a new 2-hour color travel and adventure film, will be narrated in person by its photographer, Chris Borden, as the second program of this year's Explorerama series of professionally produced travel-adventure films.

The film will be projected on a specially installed wide screen. Musical background and sound effects will be heard through specially installed 4-track stereophonic sound equipment.

It will be presented at 8:15 p.m. on Friday Nov. 14, at the Sunset Auditorium.

There is no country in the world quite like Switzerland. A land of contradiction and contrast. The new film beautifully records the timeless and unchanging scenario of this unique country.

Borden takes us by camper truck along the back roads getting a fresh look and new atmosphere in the cities and remote villages and capturing the modern and historical in an unforgettable adventure.

Highlights include a sequence showing a rural Swiss family and their daily lives in a remote village, the making of Swiss cheese, an actual ascent of the 14,000 foot Matterhorn and a breathtaking sequence of a helicopter flight over the Alps.

The series is presented by the Explorers Club of San Francisco as a community service with a portion of the proceeds used to provide annual scholarships to young California students.

Series tickets for the last seven shows of the Explorerama series including the Switzerland program are also still available.

Tickets are available at Central Box Office, Mission & 6th Ave. in Carmel

Movie Review

Journey to the Far Side of the Sun – A British science film concerned with new discoveries and interplanetary travel in the 21st century. Lots of suspense and other exciting stuff. At the State.

The Heart is a Lonely Hunter – This is a film version of Carson McCuller's searching and sensitive story about a deaf-mute (Alan Arkin) who brings warmth into the lives of lonely people in a small town. A beautiful film. At the Grove.

Putney Swope – Good and bad reviews of this film about a Madison Avenue advertising agency taken over by a black man and renamed Truth and Soul Inc. However, all agree the dialogue is brilliant. At the Hill.

The Love God? – Don Knotts in a satire on Playboy Magazine and its publisher, Hugh Hefner. The film pokes fun at pornography, censorship, civil rights, lawyers, the Mafia and just about anything else they can think of. At the State.

Ice Station Zebra – Exciting adventure yarn about submarines, spies and the North Pole. The special effects are outstanding, particularly on the big screen. An all star cast headed by Rock Hudson. John Sturges directed. At the Cinema 70 in Del Monte Shopping Center.

The Wild Bunch – A western that breaks all the rules. A grim picture about nine men who can't be allowed to live. Stars William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Robert Ryan and Edmond O'Brien. At the Carmel Village Theater.

Support Your Local Sheriff – Familiar routines receive ridiculous twists in this wildly funny comedy about a stranger (James Garner) who wanders into town and becomes its offbeat sheriff. At the Village.

Take the Money and Run – Woody Allan just has to stand there and he's funny. When he writes the story, directs the picture in which he stars, the result is sidesplitting comedy, tinged with intellect and sometimes downright brilliant. At the Steinbeck.

Easy Rider – This latest motorcycle epic stars Peter Fonda and Dennis Hooper as hippy-type youths in search of America. Aspects involving drugs and sex lead to this film being awarded first prize at the Cannes Film Festival. At the Regency.

Stage Review

Someone Waiting – At the Circle Theater. Skullduggery and skulking about in the best tradition of the suspense play. Revenge, hate and comedy all mixed about to produce a funny, terrifying evening with a topnotch cast headed by Roy Baxter and Gertrude Chappell. Better make reservations by calling 624-2669.

YOUNGSTER – Chris Borden's "Wide, Wide Switzerland" brings glimpses into the life of Oswald Rhyner, right, 87-year old Swiss, a youngster in a country where 87 is middle aged. The film, narrated by Borden, left, comes to Carmel's Sunset Auditorium on Friday, Nov. 14, at 8:15p.m.

"Flaming Fruit Puddings"

It isn't a bit too early to start making fruit puddings for fragrant Christmas gifts and holiday entertaining.

Plum pudding is the most traditional of festive desserts. Originating in England, their treasured "receipts" were brought to this country by our first settlers. They were tucked in among the fine linens, Sheffield plate and china so carefully packed in great chests by the wives of the early colonists who founded the Virginia and Maryland areas.

Your "Party Plans" editor brought back from those two lovely southern states, an authentic plum pudding recipe, plus a fine lighter one made of figs. There is a chocolate creation also, but before giving these, let's go back quickly into the past.

Isn't it interesting to know that the very austere and frugal pilgrims who landed in Plymouth (and settled the Massachusetts and Connecticut area) frowned on the making of plum pudding? They even regarded the eating of these rich morsels as a sin. Actually the pilgrims, who had separated from the Church of England, didn't observe Christmas at all!

In England and later in this country, plum puddings were made, and still are, well in advance of holiday season. Always late in the fall, female family members gathered in the great kitchens to chop suet, cut fruits, take turns stirring the huge bowls of batter and ladling it into cloth squares.

Each square was carefully tied with cord and hung from a wooden rod suspended over an enormous kettle of boiling water and simmered for hours. Later they hung from the rafters of a cool, dry storeroom the year round, waiting for special occasions.

English Plum Pudding

Christmas dinner without plum pudding is unthinkable in England and the British Commonwealth. Brought to the table blazing with burning brandy and decorated with holly, it is spectacular and heart warming.

Here is an authentic "receipt" from the Sir Francis Colchester-Wemyss (K.B.E.) book "Pleasures of the Table."

Two lbs. chopped suet; 2 lbs. breadcrumbs; 1 lb. flour; 1½ lbs. seedless raisins; 2 lbs. Sultana raisins; 1 lb. chopped apples; 10 eggs; 1 lb. candied citrus peel, chopped small; 3 oz. chopped blanched almonds; the juice and grated rind of 1 lemon; a good grating of nutmeg; ½ lb. brown sugar; ½ t. salt; 10 oz. rum; 8 oz. sherry and 8 oz. English stout.

Soak raisins in some rum and sherry. Sieve flour and mix well with crumbs, suet, salt, sugar, raisins, lemon, apples, (unpeeled), nuts and citrus peel. Mix eggs with rum, sherry, stout and lemon juice. Work until smooth into the mixture, stirring with wooden spoon (or use blender, modern style).

Put mixture into 4 pudding molds, well greased; tie up in floured cloth, and boil 6 hours. The 'basins', tied in dry cloth, can be put aside for months. Boil again 3 hours before serving.

Nowadays, use foil instead of cloth and refrigerate . . or freeze, depending how long they are made in advance.

Always steam, no matter what method, old or new . . . before bringing to table.

Flaming this beautiful pudding is easily managed. At serving, dip lumps of sugar in heated rum or brandy. Arrange them in a circle around pudding. Light each lump and take to table with the flame blazing merrily around.

Hard Sauce: With mixer or spoon, cream 4 T. butter. Add gradually 1 cup confectioners sugar. Beat until light and fluffy, adding 1 egg and 1 T. rum or brandy. Spoon into serving bowl and sprinkle with grated nutmeg. Make plenty!

Holiday Steamed Fig Pudding

One fourth cup butter or margarine; ½ cup light brown sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup sifted all purpose flour; ½ cup dry bread crumbs; 1 t. baking soda; ½ t; each, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice; ¼ cup milk; ½ cup molasses; 1 cup (6oz.) cut-up dried figs; ½ cup chopped English walnuts.

Cream butter with sugar; add egg and beat until fluffy. Sift dry ingredients together. Combine milk and molasses; add to butter mixture alternately with dry items. Blend and beat well. Add figs and nuts. Turn into 1½ qt. buttered mold or bowl or eight 5 oz. cup molds. Cover with foil and steam large pudding 2 hours and small one 2 hours. Serve hot.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding

Three T. butter or margarine; 2/3 cup granulated sugar; 1 egg; 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 2 t. baking powder; ¼ t. salt; 1 cup milk; 2 squares unsweet chocolate, melted; 1 t. vanilla extract.

Cream butter and sugar; add egg and beat until light. Sift dry ingredients together. Add to butter mixture alternately with milk; beat well. Add chocolate and vanilla. Turn into buttered 1½ qt. mold or bowl or eight 5-oz. molds. Cover with foil and steam large pudding 1½ hours and small ones 40 minutes. Serve both these puddings hot with

by Joanne Louise Nix

That afternoon I visited the monastery. I met Father Gari and he showed me an original sermon handwritten by Father Serra. He took me through the beautiful monastery, whose corridors and central garden had the same peaceful spirit as those of the Carmel Mission.

Father Gari gave me a book he had written telling of the history of the church and cloister, and promised to send me an article about Father Serra that he had written for a magazine in Mallorca.

He then told me about Father Serra's departure for the New World. After he preached his last sermon at Bon Any, Father Serra returned to the monastery of St. Francis of Assisi and washed and kissed the feet of his fellow priests. Then, bidding farewell to the grieving community, he and his companions set sail for Mexico. A plaque in the monastery, placed there in 1949, two hundred years after Father Serra's departure, commemorates his eighteen years spent as a student and teacher of philosophy and theology at St. Francis of Assisi.

Before I left, Father Gar showed me the high school where boys are studying today. It was a modern, airy school with a beautiful auditorium used for films and lectures. The children, he explained, go to school rom nine to twelve and one to four every day but Sunday, with a half day on Saturday. The high school was dedicated by Cardinal Spellman, who donated $5,000.00 for the education of a deserving student.

I thanked Father Gari for his kindness and then took my final leave for Palma. After tying up loose ends at the hotel, I went across the street to say goodbye to the people working in the store beneath our apartment. These were just a few of the people whose company and conversation I had enjoyed on this trip. They told me that Americans do not enjoy a good reputation in Spain, but that they enjoyed my girlfriend and myself because we were speaking their language and we were appreciative of their way of life.

I have found the people of England to be friendly and straightforward – not so reserved as they are stereotyped, but the warmth of the Spanish people and the warmth of their climate were very hard to say good-bye to. And so I will say hasta luego, until a later date, to Mallorca and to Spain.

Effort To Save Jetty Beach

Assemblyman Bob Wood has announced that he is joining efforts to preserve Jetty Beach for public use. Jetty Beach, which is located almost adjacent to Zmudowski State Beach in Moss Landing, is one of the few parcels of beach-front land available for the public use.

Jetty Beach is presently in private hands, althought the County has maintained it as a county facility. Because of its increased use and the growing shortage of beach front property, several nembers of the Board of Supervisors have expressed an interest in preserving this park for public use.

With his interest in preserving ocean front land coupled with his strong stand against DDT and oil drilling in Monterey Bay, Wood has emerged as one of the Assembly's most outspoken conservationists.

Carmel Art History Dates Back To Mission Days

Part II

Except for one small chapel loyally tended by an Indian, the building was a shambles inhabited by ground squirrels and rabbits; owls lived in the belfry and bats were said to be a menace to stray horses or cattle which might have their eyes pecked out should they wander inside. Tales were told about bandits hiding in the Mission, about nefarious gambling and drinking parties held there, and inevitably ghost stories were invented.

A pear orchard which the padres had planted still surrounded the church and climbed up the hill behind it (today's area along Santa Lucia Street), mingling there with the native pines.

There was no doubt that the Carmelo area was gorgeous, and in 1876, a Salinas newspaper noted that "considering the picture of loveliness, it is difficult to see why some wealthy Montereyans have not erected there, ere this, a family residence of more than ordinary pretensions, a place that is well worthy of being the home of angels."

By 1884 restoration was begun on the Mission, but that same year David Starr Jordan, who had been surveying in the area, wrote an article for Scribner's Magazine in which he, like the Salinas reporter, wondered at the lack of homes on this beautiful coast. It was not until 1903 that something was done about it.

In that year James F. Devendorf and Frank H. Powers bought farm land from the Escolle family, formed the Carmel Development Company, and began selling parcelled lots for as low as $50, with only $10 down-payment. Surveyor David Starr Jordan, who had become Stanford University's first president in 1891, was one of the earliest to purchase a lot; in 1906 he built a home on San Antonio which soon became known as "Professors. Row" because of the many college people who built there. Devendorf and Powers did everything possible to make it easy for artists and writers to own homes, often giving them free construction loans.

Soon Carmel-by-the-Sea became famous as an art colony, jealous of its reputation as an unspoiled retreat for creative thinkers and doers.

In fact, it did not incorporate until 1916, an early-day mayor, Perry Newberyy, won election on the incredible platform of "keeping Carmel from developing." By 1929 it was said that more than 200 writers with at least one published book to their credit lived (or had lived) in Carmel. As to artists: the number must be astronomical! No attempt could be made to list here the deservedly important ones who have called Carmel home. Rather, we will examine some major events which have taken place in the community.

The first studio in Carmel was an old log cabin which Mr. Powers remodelled for his wife (nee Jane Gallatin) in 1903; it was located near the present Carmel gate to Pebble Beach.

Early the next year Jessie Short Jackson erected a summer studio on the corner of Dolores and 7th (where El Paseo Court now stands). Shortly afterwards "Chris" Jorgensen built a studio (Hotel La Playa today) at Camino Real and 8th; and Arthur Vachel at Casanova and 14th.

Other early artist homes were those of Sydney Yard (which Mary DeNeale Morgan bought after his death in 1909); of Arnold Genthe, the photographer; "Grey Gables," studio-home of Ida A. Johnson and Josephine Culbertson (where the Mayfair Apartments are now). Artists continued to drift into the area, some just for summers, some permanently.

An influx of size occurred after San Francisco's earthquake and fire: Carmel-by-the-Sea became a tent city of refugees, many of whom remained to build permanent homes.

Architecturally, some Carmel buildings of the first three decades of the twentieth century can best be designated as "ye olde shoppe" – quaintly reminiscent of Hans Christian Anderson. Most of those were the design of contractor Hugh Comstock. One store, "The Doll House," became famous; however, its name referred not to a midget size, but to its stock in trade – Otsey-Totsey Dolls, the felt creations of Comstock's wife, who sold them there. (The building is still a favorite of Carmel's tourist photographers and houses the Tuck Box Restaurant).

CARMEL VALLEY VILLAGE NEWS

FASCINATION — Barns fascinate photographers, artists and paint salesmen. The play of light on weatherbeaten boards send delight to the hearts of creative people, and the paint salesman sees the structure dressed in a coat of shiny white or red paint. This barn in our sun-drenched valley is no exception. Roger Fremier shot this lovely old barn with its rusty hinges, rustic wooden door hasps, and caught the true spirit of the old building by catching the century plants in the foreground.

Letters To The Editor

Pine Cone
Carmel, California

You asked for names of artists in Carmel that you missed.

Lenore Woolans, sculptor. Studio in Sunset Center.

Helen Bratton, writer. Has published many books for young people.

Paul Rink, writer. Publishes books for young people.

Mary Anne Taylor (Mrs. Wm., Boronda Road), writer.

Maxine Shore could probably add many names to the list of writers.

There was a book fair for children at the Fairgrounds in October and many local writers were available to the young people at that time.

Ansley Hill
(Mrs. Francis Hill)
Carmel

The Carmel Pine Cone
Calif. 93921

Dear Sir:

May I congratulate you on the first annual artists' edition of the Pine Cone. An excellent idea, beautifully executed, particularly the photography.

It was kind of you to list my name among those given credit for the compilation of the Directory of Carmel Artists on page 23. However, it was also somewhat embarrassing, since the names of so many fine local writers which were on the list I originally submitted for the directory were omitted from that printed in the paper.

Among those who have published books are: Helen Bratton, Beverly Clearly, Eleanor Cameron, Vivian Breck, Augusta Fink, Helen Van Aken Mears, Beulah Karney Powers, Doris Gates, Paul Rink, Ken Kraft, Mona Williams (whose picture did appear), and Mary Ann Taylor. There are others, I'm sure, who should be included, and I hope other Pine Cone readers will supply that information.

May I also suggest including the names of the accomplished sculptor, Lenore Woolams, and the outstanding seascape artist, George Bleich. It is understandable that with the wealth of artists in this area, some names should inadvertently be omitted from the published list. Perhaps next time, too, it might be better to list the names in separate categories, rather than en masse.

Thank you again for a most interesting and outstanding edition.

Most Sincerely,
Maxine Shore
Carmel

OBITUARY

Miss Nell G. Moore, a resident of Carmel for the last 19 years, died Saturday, Nov. 8 in a local hospital at the age of 85.

She was born in Ohio and worked as an auditor for the Puget Sound Power and Light Co. in Seattle before moving to the Peninsula.

She is survived by two nieces, Miss Arline Swalwell of Salinas and Miss Corinne Swalwell of Carmel.

Ponder, Carmel Holiday Inn Honored

Dan Ponder, manager of the Holiday Inn of Carmel, has been named in the top 8 percent of all innkeepers in the chain of 1150 Inns in the U.S., Canada, the Caribbean, Europe and North Africa.

The Inn that Ponder manages at the mouth of the Carmel Valley has also been named in the top 8 percent of the Holiday Inn chain.

The winning managers were cited for civic contributions as well as being exemplary innkeepers. Among the standards used to judge their achievements were the ratings from company inspectors who make quarterly reports on all Holiday Inns.

Goings On

Rippling River's Virginia de Maria is just itching to get back to her clay work for she intendes to hve a gift gallery there in the building that houses the new units they are just finishing, seven inall. She will show not only her work, but include a select collection of other artistic endeavors as well. A great idea, she and Ange have done and are doing such a great job with the refurbishing of the old school, and are to be congratulated on their steps forward at this point. The following year will prove rewarding without a doubt. They are doing a wedding reception and have a number of special parties scheduled in the near future which keeps the kitchen happy planning all the menus and decorating fun.

Wills Fargo is the scene of its usual number of anniversary and birthday parties, and the continuing enjoyment of the regulars who make the treck up the Carmel Valley Road for his ever delectable food, be it char-broiled steaks or chicken, or the most beautifully prepared abalone steaks ever.

And speaking of food . . . the Plaza Linda hopes by next Fiesta time to be able to have a big cauldron bubbling with sopapilla, the unusual dessert from Mexico, which is a batter dropped in the hot oil where it literally explodes into a irregularily shaped bit of creampuss like mouthful, which is served then with honey. They are shopping for an old copper cauldron and will have it going out in the patio.

Dru says she is planning a beautiful "take-out--service for Thanksgiving entertaining. Made to order, she will offer Breast of Turkey, her own Southern Turkey Dressing, made with rice and cornbread, parsley, rubbed sage, her own poultry blend, sausage, pecans, celery, and onion bits . . . her own cranberry conserve, which is made with whole cranberries, apricots, apples and oranges . . . chedder creme with ginger bits, or roquefort with caviar for stuffing celery . . . almonds sauteed in butter, then salted . . . and a lalapalooza of a dessert . . . rum pumpkin pecan pie. Call 659-2512 early enough to not be disappointed.

Marzi's Monterey Jade Works is readying a collection of their hand thrown pots for the 39 Craftsmen Annual Show and Sale at the La Playa on Dec. 5, 6, and 7, which is in reality a Fine Arts and Crafts Festival.

Marian Wilson has just received two new paintings from C. C. Beall. One is a handsome piece, of Eagles Flying, in mixed media, and the other, a water color, is of Old San Francisco. Both worth a trip out to the Valley to see. In her shop, the In and Outdoor Shop, she is featuring all the important Christmas Card Albums and boxed cards as well, which run from 1.50 up per box. She says they are more beautiful than ever, and are from many European countries as well as our own. Come sit a spell and enjoy them all, and soon . . . . for the Post Office says December 10 is deadline for sending cards please.

For those who like to make their own cards, don't forget Glen Mewhinney's Art Center whereyou can get a glorious array of paints, papers and inspiration for that individual touch.

Who's To Know

In the fall of 1966, the first Fine Arts and Crafts Festival was held at the Monterey Fairgrounds; it was the dream of a group in Salinas who felt that the talent in Monterey County should be represented by a non-profit organization who would once a year share the output of these people so gifted, with the rest of the surrounding communities. Last year, Bob Allen threw open the warm old Spanish atmosphere of the La Playa Hotel in Carmel as a back drop for the complete collection which they called "The Thirty-Nine Craftsmen" and the public loved it and swarmed in to see and buy and rave over the high quality of the work on display. This year Bob is hosting the show again and they are kicking it off with a great Wild Board and Wine Preview, at $1.50 per each which will make a real fun evening starting at 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. Friday, Dec. 5; on Saturday it will be open from 10 - 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 12-6 p.m. free of charge. The La Playa Hotel is on the corner of Camino Real and Eighth and will be in three magnificient rooms on the main floor. The show will feature Leather, Metal Sculpture, Enamels, Weaving, Pottery, Clothing, Jewelry, and Books. President Bob Grabowski is most excited about the quality of this year's show, and Roger Fremier who is in charge of publicity will be coming up with some of his inspired photos to whet your appetites to make this a "Don't Miss It" Show.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." These words from John are part of the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" to be read Sunday in Christian Science churches.

Another passage in the lesson is from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Science, man's immortality depends upon that of God, good, and follows as a necessary consequence of the immortality of good."

Christian Science Radio Program

The concern of parents for their children's safety and how the Bible can bring reassurance is the subject of next Sunday's program in the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." It may be heard over radio stations KGO at 7:15, KRML at 7:45 and KDON at 8:45.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. I am in the process of setting up a retirement program through Mutual Funds. Will what I receive from this make me ineligible for Social Security retirement benefits?

A. No. Only earnings from wages or self-employment income affect Social Security Retirement benefits. At present a retired worker can earn $1680. per year and still receive all his benefits. Also, he can receive benefits from any month he does not earn over $140 regardless of his annual earnings.

Q. I am receiving disability benefits. My wife is thinking of opening a beauty shop. Will her business profit cut down or stop my benefit?

A. No. Your wife can earn as much as she wants, and your payments will continue. Your benefit is based on your disabled condition, not your family's financial situation.

Q. I will be off workfor two years because of an injury. I need money to pay my bills, but I am afraid that if I draw disability benefits now, it willcut down the benefits I will get at 65. What should I do?

A. You should file a disability claim at your local Social Security office. You are protecting, not damaging your future rights by doing so. If you are paid disability benefits, your record will be frozen so that the 2-year "gap" in your working years will not count against you later on.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o the Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

Reliable Batteries

In 1901, the New York Electric Vehicle Transportation Company had 100 nickel-iron batteries in service, each averaging 1,000 miles of travel per month. Today, the same type of battery is used in a variety of actual and experimental electric car applications.

Rummage Sale For Montessori School Kids

The Montessori Children's School will benefit from a giant rummage sale on Saturday, Nov. 15, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the exhibition hall of the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Books, toys, kitchen wear, decorator items, furniture, small appliances, jewelry, linens, garden equipment, pictures and clothing in excellent condition will be included in the sale.

The rummage sale is sponsored by the Friends of Montessori, a non-profit organization of parents and educators on the Monterey Peninsula. Proceeds will help provide tuition grants and partial scholarships for the school, which now operates in two locations – a pre-school near the Carmelite Monastery in Carmel Highlands and an upper school for children over 4½ at the Monterey Presbyterian Church.

Mission Library On Display

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16, the Franciscan Friars at Old Mission San Antonio, near the town of Jolon, will offer the public a special opportunity to examine its rare documents and books from the mission's archives in a two-day exhibit. Admission is free. All are welcome.

One of the most unique books in the collection is a "Vocabulario", a dictionary of the missions' Salinan Indian language, the Matsun dialect, compiled by Padre Buneaventura Sitjar the first Franciscan appointed by Padre Junipero Serra to serve at Mission San Antonio.

Also among the exhibits will be the "Libro de Difuntos," (Book of the Dead), begun by Padre Serra himself in 1771 when he founded San Antonio Mission. The entire first page is written by Serra in still-legible Spanish.

Visitors will also be able to inspect rare antiphonaries and their unique Indian illuminated designs; and missals, breviaries and prayer books that were used by the Padres and the Indians in early California mission days.

The exhibit will be open, free to the public, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., on both days.

Thoroughly modern picnic facilities are available in the spacious picnic grove at the rear of the mission along San Antonio Creek. Family and friends are invited to picnic there, relaxing in the shade of California's colorful past amidst idylic surroundings in the Valley of the Oaks, a still-primitive region unspoiled and much the same as when the mission was founded two centuries ago.

The mission is reached from the north by Highway 101, turning west on Jolon Road above King City, and from the south by Highway 101 to a turn-off above Bradley.

Catholic Drive For Clothing

The 21st annual Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving clothing collection for the needy overseas will be conducted Nov. 16 to Nov. 23 throughout the Diocese of Monterey, it was announced by Bishop Harry A. Clinch.

Clothing and other materials, such as shoes and bedding goods, brought to local Catholic churches during the dates of collection will be shipped overseas through the global facilities of Catholic Relief Services and distributed to needy men, women and children of all races and religions in 70 countries.

According to Bishop Clinch, there is special need for clothing to aid refugees and other displaced persons victimized by the warfare on both sides of the Nigeria/Biafra conflict, as well as for war victims in Vietnam and the Middle East.

Anti-Inflation Measures Necessary Says Crocker

Failure of current anti-inflation policies would do more in the long run to harm the "have-nots" in our society than would a temporary dip in employment levels.

Leslie C. Peacock, executive vice president of Crocker-Citizens National Bank and former economist for the American Banker's Association, told the Urban Land Institute today that, in addition, "this failure would bring only slight relief to those whose employment requires a super-heated economy."

"The burden of anti-inflationary policies rests heavily on those who are deprived of jobs," Peacock said. "The benefits accrue to those who have their purchasing power restored, and this group includes the millions of American families who are classified as the low-income group."

"If one concludes from this that the widespread social evils caused by inflation are at least as great as the concentrated social blight of umemployment, he is probably correct," Peacock said. "This does not mean, however, that the alternative must be one or the other. Those who argue the loudest about the need for restoring price stability also should raise their voices in behalf of federal programs to relieve the structural unemployment which successful anti-inflation policies often risk producing."

Mission Trails Income Up

The income of the Central Mission Trails Heart Association for the year ending June 30, was $105,625.

The receipts, most of which came from memorial gifts, legacies and Heart Fund campaign proceeds, were made public today by Loren E. Smith of Monterey, the organization's treasurer.

Of the total Heart Association income in the three counties of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito, $69,600 resulted from contributions in Monterey County.

In general, Smith revealed, one-third of the local Heart Association's money this year was obtained in the door-to-door Heart Sunday collection last February.

Another third was from bequests and special events such as the annual Heart Fund hors d'oeuvre and cocktail party arranged by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Owners Association.

Twenty-five percent was from memorial gifts, and the remainder from mailed contributions, special gifts and support from commerce and industry.

Income for 1968-69, according to Mr. Smith, was up seven percent from the total for the previous year.

The Heart Association's program for Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito – activities supported by public contributions – includes support of medical research, educational activities for the medical professions and public, and community programs to assist heart patients.

Christmas Club Checks Mailed

A total of $22.6 million will be distributed in mid-November to more than 95,000 Christmas Club customers, Wells Fargo Bank announced today.

The average Christmas Club check will be about $237 up from $229 a year ago.

In the Monterey-Salinas area, the bank will mail a total of $596,329 to some 2,273 local residents. The average amount will be $262.

Last year a total of $23,430,179 in checks was sent to 102,485 California residents.

BofA 'Reporter' Lists New Advertising Plan For Small Businesses

The small businessman who carefully plans his advertising will reap an increase in sales volume, according to Bank of America.

Citing a law of business economics, the bank points out that advertising builds sales volume at a lower cost per sale than any other method.

"Advertising is fine for big business," one small businessman said, "but it costs too much for me and, anyway, I can never be sure of results."

Pointing out the fallacy of this attitude, the bank periodical The Small Business Reporter emphasizes, "The smart businessman knows he can't afford not to advertise."

The Reporter lists a step-by-step advertising plan that includes budgeting, distribution of the budget, preparation of the advertising message, selection of media, and checking results.

The bank also gives advice on how to schedule advertising to avoid wasting money during lagging seasons.

A special survey conducted by the Reporter revealed that the majority of small businessmen respondents consider newspapers the medium which brought them the best results.

"Newspapers usually cover the small businessman's market area quite accurately with little waste circulation, and the cost of newspaper lineage is relatively low," the Reporter states.

Copies of the Reporter – which includes a chart comparing the advantages and disadvantages of media – are available through any Bank of America branch.

Consumer Power

By Yvonne Earnst

How are you doing in the "Eat Less Meat" campaign?

Whether you are buying less meat because your budget will not allow buying more – or are buying less because you wish to bring some "consumer power" to bear on the food industry to lower meat prices – you need to brush up on recipes using other high-protein foods. You may even find you are eating "better for less."

Practice proper nutrition by starring meat alternates such as poultry, fish, eggs, cheese, milk, dried beans and split peas in your menus. Cottage cheese is one of the most versatile of these meat alternates. It can be used in recipes such as the ground beef, cottage cheese, and egg "pie" recipe that was printed here last week. It can be served in the form of cottage pancakes, muffins or quick bread. Spinning it in the blender with a little milk and lemon juice or buttermilk produce a high-protein, low-fat stand-in for sour cream.

Learn to incorporate high-protein secret weapons such as wheat germ, dry milk, soybeans, soy grits, soya flour and brewer's yeast into recipes your family already knows and likes. I call these foods my "secret weapons" because I find it wiser to smuggle them into already familiar foods than to announce to the family, "I hope you like these muffins – they have soya flour and wheat germ in them."

Last week, I suggested many ways you could use wheat germ, adding it to everything from pizza crust to brownies. It really does not matter whether the protein boost in each meal comes in the form of sald, main dish, dessert or in all three. But it should be present somewhere in each meal you eat.

Non-fat dry milk is another food that can be added to different recipes to boost the protein content. It is available in two forms instant dry milk, which is available in all grocery stores and spray-dried milk, which is available in health food stores or from bakeries.

Spray-dried milk has not been submitted to the high temperatures used in producing instant dry milk, nor does it contain the detergent-like additives which make instant dry milk dissolve so readily. Reconstituting spray-dried milk is more difficult since it ends to form lumps, so this is best accomplished with an electric mixer or blender.

Spray-dried milk is best used, though, in its dry form. It is a very fine powder which combines easily with other dry ingredients. Where comparatively large quantities of instant dry milk would make a baked product gummy, spary-dried milk can be used with good results.

Both forms of dry milk should be stored in plastic bags sealed with no air pocket. If kept in a jar or plastic container, put the plastic bag inside the container – the object being to keep the dry ... from absorbing any moisture, even from the aire inside the jar. Once it absorbs moisture, it begins to deteriorate. Soya flour should also be stored in th-s manner, and in addition, should be kept in the refrigerator.

Soya flour is the next "secret weapon" to learn to use. This is a flour made from soybeans, which you already know as a powerhouse of protein. Buy soya flour that has been lightly toasted for better assimilation. As with spray-dried milk, soya flour can be substituted for part of the wheat flour in a recipe. You can remove two tbsp. flour from a cup, and substitute the soya flour. This is the protein equivalent of 2 oz. lean meat.

Whenever a recipe calls for one cup of flour, try doing this. First, measure into the bottom of the measuring cup 1 tbsp. spray-dried milk, 1 tbsp. soya flour and 1 tsp. to 1 tbsp. wheat germ. Then, fill the cup with sifted wheat flour. Wheat germ will not go through a flour sifter, so just stir the dry ingredients together, or add the wheat germ after sifting together the dry ingredients.

You can also add spray-dried milk and soya flour to commercial mixes, just as you do wheat germ. Start with 1 tbsp. each, and work up to as much as ½ cup dry milk and ¼ cup soya flour. Add them to biscuit mix, pancake mix, cake mix, any mix. Don't worry about whether or not it will rise. There's enough leavening in commercial mixes to raise a rock. You may have to add more liquid, depending on how much dry milk and soya flour you are using. Don't be afraid to experiment.

Soya flour and dry milk, as well as wheat germ, can also be added to any ground beef recipes such as meat loaf.

Soy grits, also available in health food stores, are just soybeans broken into very small pieces. Pour ½ cup boiling water over ½ cup soy grits, and store in a covered container in the refrigerator for up to 5 or 7 days.

Then, start adding them to various dishes – casseroles, chili, spaghetti – starting with 1 tbsp. until you are convinced that they are acceptable to your family.

Your family would probably never spot soy grits in chocolate chip cookies, especially if there were a few chopped walnuts in them, too, for the flavor.

Brewer's yeast is the one food that I find relatively hard to use without having it spotted. Although its "nutty" flavor is not objectionable, I do find that it calls for more ingenuity. I usually use it in beef recipes which also contain tomato and spices.

For many more recipe ideas, try to find these cookbooks at the library – Adelle Davis' Let's Cook it Right (I do not accept all Miss Davis' ideas, but find this a very practical cookbook); Beatrice Trum Hunter's The Natural Foods Cookbook; and Ida Bailey Allen's Solving the High Cost of Eating.

YOU'D BETTER BELIEVE IT! – This photo, just released by the San Luis Obispo office of the Division of Highways, will put to silence complaints received by the office that Highway 1 below Big Sur really wasn't closed at all, and that cars could actually get through. Division engineers are working overtime to complete the benching near this notorious trouble spot near Lime Kiln Creek, and even the mailman is climbing around this 500-foot slide. The early storm that brought nearly 2 inches of rain to that area last Wednesday will probably slow the already hazardous work.

Pay Taxes By BankAmerica Card Newest Credit Pitch

Nearly three million people in all 58 California counties will soon be able to pay their property taxes by credit card.

The new service, offered by BankAmericard, is believed to be the bigest credit card-property tax program ever put together in the U.S.

It is designed to help tax collectors get their revenues faster, and save taxpayers thousands of hours of time, said John A. Dillon, vice president-California BankAmericard director.

Here's how the program will work:

This month BankAmericard holders will receive a special check in the mail. To pay their taxes, they need only fill it in for amounts up to $500, and then send it to the tax collector. That's it.

The amount is added to the cardholder's account; the service is free to the county.

Actually, property tax payment by credit card was launched on an experimental basis by BankAmericard in 1967. But the program did not utilize the mail, and was only available in 15 counties.

For the taxpayer, Dillon said, the service is a new and convenient method to meet an inevitable expense.

Max Hawker's Secret

Max Hawker has a grave secret!

Some years ago, in his wide peregrinations around the globe, he was lead to an elephant cemetery by an ancient pachyderm from whose foot he had once removed a corn.

Max Hawker is now manager of Imports at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center. He finally has reluctantly agreed to share a small portion of his secret out of admiring realization of the unique, advanced cosmopolitan nature of this community. From his vast inventory, Max will release a foot or two from time to time to serve as a reminder of the mightiness and gentleness of our great elephant friends.

Though umbrage has been taken by one representative of an "internationally powerful orgnization" over the possiblity of these feet coming from "poachers off preservers," it is not true! These feet are definitely from departed pachyderms from Max's secret cemetery. There is no parallel at all between these and the furs you wear or the meat you eat, whatsoever. Think of them only as a gentle – and utilitarian – reminder of the passage of time – and all that.

Max himself is a remarkable person. In this area of craftsmen and artisans and artists, Max is quite at home. He is an internationally-known weaving designer – along with remarkable talent in a variety of crafts.

Report From RLS

By George Wing

PARENTS WEEKEND

The dedication of two new campus facilities the exhibition of the "Gold Spike Album," a fashion show, the play "A 1000 Clowns" and a score of athletic victories were highlights of Parents Weekend; last Nov. 7, 8 and 9 at RLS.

Dedication

On Sunday the Robert U. Ricklefs Library and Lindsley Science Center, two recently completed facilities, were formally included as part of the Robert Louis Stevenson campus. Concieved as part of a far sighted five-year plan, the buildings reflect the generous contributions made by friends of the school. Speakers at the dedication included John Lyon Reid, a trustee of RLS; Dr. Ralph Hansen, chief archivist at Stanford University; Mrs. George Lenci, niece of the donor of the science building; Dr. Fulton Freeman, president of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies; Mr. Robert Ricklefs, president of RLS and Mr. Gordon Davis, headmaster.

Symposium

Also on Sunday, a symposium, designed to augment the exhibition of the "Gold Spike Album," was held in the gymnasium. The Album, a collection of historical paintings by 100 master artists, is sponsored by the Southern Pacific Railroad in commemoration of the California bicenntenial.

The two symposium speakers were Dr. Hutchinson, director of history at Chico State College and Dr. Ralph Hansen, archivist at Stanford University. Dr. Hutchinson's topic dispelled the myth concerning foul play in government land grants to Southern Pacific. The railroad, according to Dr. Hutchinson, was the catalyst to California's prosperity, population, industry and agriculture.

Dr. Hansen spoke of Leland Stanford, first Governor of California. He discussed the governor's interest in agriculture, horses, photography and his founding of Stanford University in memory of his son.

At the conclusion of the symposium was the drawing for the London taxi, donated to the school for fund raising purposes by the Dart family. Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wing of Palos Verdes were the lucky winners.

The Day Student Fashion Show

Eight hundred dollars was raised for the RLS student and building funds through a fashion show sponsored by Elizabeth Simmons Fashions.

Staged Friday, the 7th, the show was a 2nd annual for the Day Student organization. Day Student President Jim Schaeffler and Vice President Tim Donahue provided a humorous commentary. The drawing for the doorprizes produced Mr. Otis Moore the winner of the two Mayan rubbings by Mrs. L. W. Robertson, anthropology instructor at RLS.

"A 1000 Clowns"

An enthusiastic welcome was given "A 1000 Clowns" during both performances Nov. 7 and 8. Directed by Mrs. Rosemary Garrison, Stevenson's energetic Dramatics director, the play drew an audience of about 400 people. Bruce Burrel led the cast as Murry Burns followed by Henry Saunders, Chris Baumgart, Ann Mathews, Jim Doyle and John Sharon.

Water Polo

Defeating Live Oak 7-3, the RLS Varsity Water Polo team reamined undefeated. David Haynes led the scoring with 3 goals followed by Cory Smith with 2, Bruce Avery with 1 goal and Jim Hebenstreit with 1. The game was neck and neck until the fourth quarter when a sudden surge of power placed RLS in unchallenged command of the situation.

MPC Shatters Menlo, 72-8, Meets Hartnell For Title

By Marc Hinchey

The Coast (JC) Conference football championship all boils down to one game this weekend.

Monterey Peninsula College and bitter rival Hartnell College, both 4-0 in league standings, will tangle Saturday night at MPC Stadium in what promises to be a real thriller. It will be the season finale for both squads.

MPC and Hartnell both won last week. The Lobos bombed hapless Menlo College 72-8 while the Panthers bounced Gavilan 42-0.

Both teams look extremely well balanced. MPC utilizes a prostyle "I" formation based primarily on the runningand passing of quarterback Dave Stewart and the running of fullback Brad Kight.

The defensive units of both elevens have looked very good throughout the season — the Lobos headed by linebackers Paul Paquin and Sandy McFarland and defensive backs Dan Hoffman and Alva Wright. Linebacker Mike Paris leads the Hart defenders.

Monterey ran up its highest score in history last Friday afternoon, scoring nine touchdown against Menlo — including 30 points in the second quarter.

The Lobos rolled up a 38-0 lead in the first half and continued the onslaught in the second. MPC scored its first touchdown on a twelve yard run by Stewart and a subsequent two point conversion run. There was no further first quarter scoring.

Stewart again tallied in the opening minutes of the second stanza. The sophomore signal caller scampered over from seven yards out to cap a brief Lobo drive. He then passed to flanker Jim Donovan for the two point PAT to give MPC a quick 16-0 advantage.

With 9:21 remaining in the half, Monterey halfback Jimmy White dazzled the crowd with an electrifying 78 yard run on a reverse play.

Shortly thereafter, Stewart found end Bil Stowers with a ten yard scoring aerial and the conversion made it 30-0.

Following the kickoff, Menlo fumbled and MPC quickly capitalized. Stewart hit running back Mike Mitchem for 30 yards and another score. John Knox's conversion run rounded out first half scoring.

Reserve quarterback Pogo Pettas took over for the Lobos in the second half, and scored three touchdowns himself — one on a quarterback keeper end run, and two on one yard sneaks.

The two other Monterey TDs came on runs by halfback Jimmy Bailey of one and six yards.

Menlo finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter on quarterback Del Furano's pass.

All Lobo fans are urged to come out to the game this week, which also marks homecoming for the Wolfpacks.

WATER ACTION — Fast and furious action as Carmel and Seaside water polo teams clashed last week and Carmel took both the varsity and junior varsity games. The varsity won, 15-6, the JVs sunk Seaside 12-8

Padres Take On Breakers After Loss To Gonzales

by Hal Gann

Carmel's Varsity Football team bowed to a championship-bound Gonzales team, 27-6, Saturday afternoon on the local gridiorn, after the Padre Freshmen and Junior Varsity Teams continued their winning ways, with 28-12 and 26-0 victories.

A 45-yard pass play from Jim Conlan to Mark Belangee set up the only varsity touchdown, with Rick Hall capping the drive on a one-yard plunge. Conlan was trapped behind the line on the try for extra points.

Conlan to Mark Spindler pass plays clicked for 27, 31 and 17 yards on three different occassions, and five times Carmel was in scoring range, but the rugged Spartan defense rose to the situation to starve off the Red and White.

In the first half, a rugged Padre defensive line, spearheaded by Jay Argust, aggresive linebacking, led by Rick Hall, and air-tight cornerbacking by Bob Thompson, forced Gonzales to twice fumble the ball away, and to punt once.

But with the scroe deadlocked at nothing to nothing late in the first quarter, Spindler — whose overall kicking game was good — punted the ball on a low, line-drive to Mike Reyes, who quickly returned it 25 yards to Carmel's 40, and with the great Eddie Lopez catching a key third and six pass to give them a first down, the Spartans proceeded to march for the first score. Lopez's PAT was good to give Gonzales a 7-0 halftime lead.

Halfback Lopez romped for 60 yards and a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage in the second half, and added the extra point kick to make it 14-0. Carmel marched right back with a drive of their own, but bogged down on Bonincontri's interception at the Spartan 13. Early in the fourth quarter, Gonzales struck again on a 58-yard pass play from quarterback Breschini to halfback Reyes. This time the PAT attempt by Lopez was no good.

Then came the only Carmel drive for a score, and late in the game halfback Manuel Pacheco raced 48 yards for the final Gonzales tally.

THE CLANN GAEL

Clann Gael To Perform

Second in the series of concerts, the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association will present the Clann Gael on Sat. evening, Nov. 15, at 8:15 in the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium.

Clann Gael is a group of 20 singers, dancers and musicians from Eire and the Scottish Highlands, appearing on their first coast to coast tour of America. This unique and exciting company will present a program of Irish and Scottish songs, dances and musical interludes.

Drawn from both the popular and classic traditions of Ireland and Scotland, the music ranges from the melancholy to the joyous, and from mischievous to sentimental, from the ballads and reels, jigs and laments that are the essence of these lands. Dances, costumes and instruments are all authenticall Gaelic, from Irish harps and bagpipes to the colorful plaid kilts.

Some of the young singers have already appeared on new and current recordings, and the dancers include a pair of 16-year old twins and their 15-year old brother whose father is the leading dance master of Ireland.

Eily O'Grady is the group's pianist, musical director and producer.

Attendance at the concert is limited to members of the association and to members of similar associations on a space available basis.

Since 1935, the cost of living has gone up 183% but typical PG&E gas and electric rates are down 13.9%. Even with the gas rate increase we've had to request, a typical gas and electric customer would get more for his money than he would have 34 years ago.
Naturally your PG&E bill is higher now than it used to be, simply because you use more gas and electricity. More energy to run freezers, dryers, washers, TV, better heating and lighting... all the comforts of modern living. PG&E

Weile Is New Local Census Director

Congressman Burt L. Talcott today announced the appointment of Howard Weile, of Salinas, as the Director of the Census for the Central Coast area.

Weile, former District Manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for the central division will be Director of the Census for the area which includes Monterey, Santa Cruz, San Benito, and portions of Santa Clara and San Mateo counties. He will direct approximately five hundred enumerators.

The district office will be in Salinas. Recruitment of enumerators will begin early in 1970. The census will be conducted in April and May. Informational material concerning the census and employment as enumerators will be available in early January.

Boyer Recital

A studio recital was held at the home of Gilbert Boyer on Sunday, Nov. 2.

Those performing were advanced students of Gilbert Boyer, concert pianist and director of the Gilbert Boyer Piano Conservatory.

Andre de Leos played Three Bach Preludes; Karen Shelton, Three Chopin Preludes; Warren Wilson, A Bach Prelude and the Chopin Nocture in F sharp Major. Mrs. Donald Rich and Gilbert Boyer played a Mozart Theme and Variations for Four Hands; and Mrs. Eugene Crittenden played the Allegro from the Beethoven Sonata, Op. 14, No. 2.

Diane Robinson and Boyer joined in Schumann's Scenes from the Orient for Four Hands at One Piano; Mrs. Edmund Milne played a Bach Prelude and Fugue in C sharp Major from The Well-Tempered Clavichord, Book 1 and Three Ecosaisses of Chopin. The program eneded with Mrs. John Erickson playing Chopin's Fantaisie.

Guests present for the ricital were Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shelton, Mrs. William Van der Sluis and Miss Claudine Van der Sluis, Mrs. Shirlee de Leos, Mrs. Margaret Aitkenhead, Donald Rich and Warren Wilson. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Boyer.

It is suspected that Queen Elizabeth I was bald as was her cousin and rival, Mary Queen of Scots.

Volunteers Hear Doctors On Drug Abuse

A team of three prominent Monterey Peninsula doctors of medicine presented a program with a strong message on drug abuse to the members of the Community Hospital Auxiliary when the organization of hospital volunteers convened Monday, November 3, at Del Monte Lodge for annual election of officers.

President Mrs. Barbara Haber presided with he assistance of Mrs. Joseph Earnshaw, program chairman.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Jack Westland, president-elect, for the next year were: Mrs. Paul Bizzini, vice-president-elect; Mrs. Church Chappell, treasurer; Mrs. Charles G. Rau, secretary; Mrs. Richard Campbell, member at large.

Mrs. Edward M. Fagan and Mrs. Paul Pucci were elected to serve on the nominating committee.

Dr. Donald F. Taugher spoke on "Pills People Take," covering the three categories – depressants, stimulants and hallucinogens – with special emphasis on the dangers of the drug LSD. He concluded with the suggestion that factual information regarding drugs be given to young people, and asked for support of the local Drug Information Center's program.

World Affairs Council To Feature Dr. Mark Manchall At Next CHS Meeting

The third in a series of four lectures highlighting "Emphasis on Asia" will be presented by the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula at 8 p.m. on Thursday Nov. 20 in Brey Hall of Carmel High School.

Dr. Mark Mancall, assistant professor of history at Stanford University will discuss "The Relations of Communist China with Its Asian Neighbors."

According to Bernard Van Horne, president of the World Affairs Council, the public is invited to the lecture and there is no admission charge. Printed invitations to join the World Affairs Council will be distributed to those in attendance.

Van Horne stated that the lecture on China should be particularly interesting because, "China is unquestionably the world's oldest historical entity and its past influences its present policies.

"For More than 2,000 years a well formulated international system developed in Asia in which the Chinese occupied the position of the Middle Kingdom – or the center of world affairs.

Even today a unique type of international relationships color and influence China's relations with her neighbors," Van Horne added.

Dr. Mancall received his B.A. from the UCLA in 1953; his M.S., in 1955, and Ph.D. (1963) from Harvard University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

A book, "Russia and China: Their Early Relations to 1728" by Dr. Mancall is being published by Harvard University. In 1964 his book, "Formosa Today" was published. He is one of the authors of the recent Harvard University publication, "The Chinese World Order: Traditional China's Foreign Relations."

The World Affairs Council's Nov. 20 speaker is engaged in a long-term research project on "revolution." A comparative study, the book will concentrate on the Chinese Communist Revolution and on certain revolutionary movements in modern Latin American history.

Workshop Starts Nov. 18

"The Aid of Hypnosis in Self-Evaluation and Programming," a four-session workshop to be led by Carmel physician Peter H. C. Mutke, will start Nov. 18 at Monterey Peninsula College.

The workshop will meet that evening, as well as on three succeeding Tuesday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room PS-201. Interested persons are urged to pre-register as soon as possible at MPC's community services office.

Fireside Suppers are a new innovation at THE KEEPING ROOM. We first thought to do a variety to choose from but have decided to have one supper a night and vary the menu by nights.

So . . . . . .

Here we go again!

Friday Night: Hungarian Bell Peppers. Stuffed, they are, with beef 'n 'rice 'n' celery 'n' onions 'n' serendipitous seasonings, then smothered with tomatoes served up with sour cream and garlic sour dough to soak up all the marvelous juices.

Saturday Night: Stuffed Manicotti. An Italian Cantata of spiced ground beef, fragrant herbs and ricotta cheese all blended and coaxed into a large pasta tube which is then baked under a blanket of cheese and tomato sorcery besprinkled with fresh mushrooms and parmesan.

Sunday Night: Old Fashioned Chicken Shortcake. Succulent chunks of white meat in rich golden chicken gravy served a la shortcake with a beaten butter shortcake biscuit. Molded jello salad on the side.

All suppers include broth, salad and beverage. Reservations are appreciated. 659-2512. Closed Mondays. 6 Pilot Rd., Carmel Valley Village.

FREE HYPNOSIS demonstration and explanation. Friday evening 8:00 p.m. by reservation only. Call 375-1116.

CHARM! CHARM! CHARM! We have just listed this attractive and immaculate home located on a quiet street close to town and the beach. The living room has an extra high beamed ceiling and a quaint used-brick fireplace that extends the full height. There is a sunny separate dining room, a remodeled kitchen (in yellow and white) with brick-vinyl flooring, new white formica counter and new electric range with self-cleaning oven. Two bedrooms, one bath, single garage . . . . . and an added bonus . . . . a separate spacious studio. A brick patio on the south side, attractive decking in the rear, grapestake fencing and attractive planting all combine to make this one of the most charming small homes we have had to offer. Fairly priced at $33,500!

NEED MORE ROOM? Do you like older 2-story shingle houses? Do you want to be easy walking distance to the beach and town? Would you like an income unit that would help with the monthly payments? There are 4 bedrooms and 3 baths in the main house and a charming newer complete one-bedroom cottage with fireplace in the living room which should rent for $150. All on two valuable lots! The full price is $59,500 and liberal financing is available. You can afford this home and you can't afford to miss seeing it!

Real Estate

Only Once More In 1969

Our one-evening Real Estate Investment Seminars have provided essential information to many people. Several are now receiving more than the outstanding 10% yield which is tax-sheltered.

Working with the "professional team" is the better way to enjoy your investments, and you will have no management problems.

Early in December we will hold our last investment class of 1969. Be prepared for 1970 investing. CALL: leave your name and address for an invitation. (sorry, but we must limit class size). It's fun and profitable – for all of us.

Want 10% Yield?

Our analyses search out some of the better investment properties. We feel the investor should receive 10% yield on his investment. Call us for information about income units available that will provide this yield for you. If you do not want to manage them, then a lease-back can be arranged.

The Happiest Guests

Guests don't have to be under foot in this unique Carmel residence. Have all the company you like, when you and they like it, but also they can keep a most enjoyable nearness that is as good as separate motel rooms. This type of luxury is expensive, but all of downtown Carmel is. As this exceptional property is very popular you must call to make an appointment to see it – with the Realtor.

CARMEL DUPLEX – CHOICE AREA – $62,500

Would you like to own an attractive duplex in Carmel? Here is your opportunity, just 2 blocks from the beach and south of Ocean Ave. Each unit has 2 bedrooms, 1 bath, living room, kitchen, fireplace, and they are in excellent condition. Both are leased into 1972. See us for further details.

HATTON FIELDS – 3-BEDROOMS – 2 BATHS – $49,500

In the choicest Hatton Fields area on ½ acre, a well built home of 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and a den and a sitting room, 2 fireplaces. The home is nicely arranged with 2 separate living areas. Full price just $49,500.

3 BEDROOMS, 2 BATHS, 2 BLOCKS TO POST OFFICE. Only $26,500

One bedroom and bath have separate outside entrance. It's not everyone's cup of tea, but at this price, in this location, ANYONE must at least be curious.

3 BEDROOMS – 2 BATHS – OCEAN VIEW – $54,500

This radiant-heated Post Adobe home in Carmel Meadows is most attractive, inside and out. At $54,500 it is an outstanding value.

INEXPENSIVE LOTS

RANCHO RIO VISTA . . . A full acre for just $9,750. Or, if you prefer, TWO of them for $18,500. They're GOOD building sites, too.

NEAR POST OFFICE . . . $12,500 will buy a not-so-level lot just 3 blocks to the P.O. Reasonable for a lot almost in town.

MPCC . . . $9,750 and a steal. Adjacent to and just north of 3113 Hermitage Road. There might even be some ocean view.

UPPER PEBBLE BEACH . . . $16,500. A good-sized lot that can be developed to give a quite good ocean view.

A Dream Home For for the Quiet Life in the Country

We have just listed a unique and enchanting informal home with lots of exposed wood, brick, slate floors. Nearly new, but with a comfortable old-shoe feeling about it. Two master bedrooms with two luxurious tile baths and a Japanese sauna in one. Located just off the valley floor, so convenient to the Village, and not up on the top of the mountain (although you may feel that it is because all the glories of the Carmel Valley hills, completely screened, by fencing and plantings, from neighbors and roof tops, are the views from every interesting window. Scenic easement surrounds you. Outdoor living is provided by lovely little patios which welcome the sun and there's a cool natural grotto in the heart of the hill behind the house. We want to stress the many unique architectural features of this home, for at the price of $55,000, you would never expect to get so much originality for your money. May we prove it?

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Jerry Kramer's new book reads like a medical chart. The professional football player is always liable to accidents, but Jerry Kramer seems to be accident prone, and his life has been one trip to the hospital after another. He has quit the game and for this reason his book is called Farewell To Football.

The Careless Atom by Sheldon Novick is a book which will frighten you out of 10 years growth.

Based upon the statement by Edward Teller that nuclear reactors do not belong on the face of the earth, the author discusses the possible disasters which could result from such situations. If you are especially interested in the P.G. & E. – Bodega Bay controversy, the account of that one begins on page 34 and is enough to make you light your house with candles for the rest of your life.

And while we are mentioning critical books, which is Karma-shaking in itself, we have the new one entitled Road To Ruin by A. O. Mowbray.

It is all about the obsessive road building of the federal government and the various state governments. The author says the main objective is money, money for road builders, for the automotive and petroleum industries, for land developers, and for people who fatten on the tourist trade.

To build these roads the federal gas tax has been raised from one cent per gallon to four cents, and taxes on tires and automobile spare parts have also risen. Who wants to pay these higher taxes, and who needs all these thousands of miles of new highways? Mr. Mowbray says the callous highway-automobile complex is responsible for the devastation of our once magnificent open spaces. What can we do about all this? Certainly something should be done.

An Astrology Primer is by Carl Tobey. It is a small paper bound book which probably won't last long because of the binding.

The good thing is that it explains astrology in clear terms and the reader is able to look up his sign and quickly find out what astrology has to say about himself. No fooling around.

We have seen two copies of a brochure produced by Louise D. McCann of Carmel Valley, who is deeply concerned by the lack of child care facilities in this area. By brining out this brochure, she hopes to alert everyone to this serious lack and to be able to do something about it. It may well be that such facilities will not cure all the ills she lists in the brochure, but certainly they could help, and certainly they are needed. A tax deductable donation of $5.00 will bring a copy of the brochure to you. It is called Open the Door and See All the People and is available at the Pine Cone office.

A book which will tickle the memories of those who have lived in the vast plains areas of this country is by David Costello and is called The Prairie World.

The sub title is Plants and Animals of the Grassland Sea. They are all here, the plants, the insects, the snakes and the animals, and even the flooding streams of spring.

And finally, take one look at the autobiography of Leonide Massine, which he has called My Life in Ballet. The dancer was born in Moscow in 1895, and this account takes him from that time until his own son was appearing in ballet. A great artists and an interesting book!

Peace.

Wear White

Reduced visibility is a major factor in pedestrian accidents this time of year, warns the California State Automobile Association. The early hours of darkness and rain and fog make it much more difficult for the motorist to see the person crossing the street.

The CSAA offers this life-saving hit to pedestrians: Wear or carry something white after dusk.

County Health Offers Tips

"While summer vacation is over for most youngsters, parents should not relax their guards to protect their children from animal bites." Dr. Richard S. Fraser, of the Monterey County Health Department warns.

"Of course the child will not be as exposed to animals during school hours as he was during the summer vacation period, but the danger still exists for those children who must walk to and from school."

The Monterey County Health Department offers these tips to parents to help them protect their child from animal bites:

Never allow your child near strange, sick injured, wild or nervous animals, or to enter yards housing these animals.

Caution him not to tease, make threatening gestures, or remove food or toys from an animal. Tell him to speak first to avoid startling an animal.

Train the child not to make the first move towards friendship, or hold his face close to an animal's mouth. Let the animal make the first friendly move after first getting acquainted with the child's odor.

Teach your child, under proper supervision, to make friends with pets he will frequently encounter in the immediate neighborhood.

'Road to 1970' Is Car Show Theme

"The Road to 1970" is the theme of the Second Annual New Car Show that starts today at Del Monte Shopping Center in Monterey.

More than 100 new American and foreign cars from members of the Monterey Peninsula New Car Dealers' Association will be displayed on the Mall in front of upper level stores, and by the Cinema 70 Theatre on the lower level.

"This year's show will be even bigger than last year's," according to Sam Matar, this year's chairman for the event. "Now everyone on the Peninsula can see all the new 1970's together in one location."

Not until recently was a complete auto show of this magnitude possible. Now the dealers have a better supply of cars and will be able to show a complete selection.

Representatives of all the member dealers will be on hand during the three days – Thursday, Friday and Saturday – of the show to answer questions and explain the features of the new models.
